

Hello Everyone

I have wonderful news about the baby who has the aggressive brain tumour who was dying and in screaming pain.

Well the Mum, Dad and Grandparents have been now giving assists for almost 2 weeks around the clock. The 2 month old baby also receives the touch assist from the South African Congress where you touch on the area of the injury or illness, specifically, and not the rest of the body and use the Command "Look at my Finger", for 15-20 minutes a day. So the baby is receiving this assist too, and loves it. The baby remains very quiet when this assist is being done and stares lovingly and interestedly into the eyes of Mum or Dad who is doing it.

The tumour has stopped growing the last 2 weeks, since the first assist began. Prior to that the tumour was growing aggressively.

The baby is now progressing well and in a stable condition, whereas prior to the assists the baby's prognosis was that she would die by last Friday week (9 days ago).

The sleeps soundly and is very happy a lot of the time, whereas before the baby was drugged with morphine most of the time and still screaming in pain.

I gave an assist to the baby and at each touch the baby gurgled to acknowledge she had done the command and looked into my eyes lovingly. The baby LOVES the assists.

The amazing news is that I received over 100 emails on the first day I sent out my email to you all about the baby. I had replies from my Auditor friends all over the world. Wishing the baby love and their postulates and telling me that they were praying for the baby to get well.

This went on day after day. I have received hundreds of emails and I have passed on all your love and postulates and prayers to the parents, AND I TOLD THE BABY TOO!! And she was very happy.

I am now hating the parents on the tech of Suppression, the underlying cause of illness etc too. and they are really getting it and I think this little soul is too!

Thank you for your love and support for our new friends. They are very interested to learn as much as possible to help their baby and with your continued attention towards this area, I am sure that the baby will live.

Love to you all, I will keep you updated.
